Your Calling.

"I am sorry that I was not trained to some commercial pursuit," said a professional gentleman to a successful business friend.

"See here, young man," was the reply, "do you really think you are sorry? Aren't you doing well enough? Come, now, would you voluntarily give up your present calling?"

"Too old to think of change now."

"Nonsense! Never too old to correct a mistake. But in your case I suspect you want to make a mistake instead of correcting one. I made a mistake in my early life, and I will tell you how it was:

"My father was a lawyer. There were three boys of us, and every influence was thrown around us when very young to stir in us ambition to enter professional careers. We had a fine library, the tone of our home was cultured and refined, and before any of us grew up we were very well grounded in polite literature. We had sense enough to see that father would not listen to any objections to a professional life and so, under a sort of compulsion, we went the old gentleman's way. I was too good to be a preacher and had too weak a stomach to be a doctor. The law was the last resort so I took it up. After I was admitted I whacked away at the dry and unproductive stuff for fifteen years. It was the martyrdom of drudgery. Finally I made a break, went into business, and have been prosperous and happy from that day to this. You see I had found my niche and I can say with truth that I take more pleasure in making a good sale than in pocketing the profits. My business suits me; I take pleasure in it and I long ago made up my mind that my boys could follow their inclinations in the matter of a life occupation, no matter whither they were led.

"The successful and great editors and writers are those who love with all conquering enthusiasm the thorny and difficult road of journalism. It is so with our merchants and all manner of men."

French Lavender Flowers.

"The best lavender flowers," said a wholesale druggist of Greenwich street to a New York Sun reporter, "come from France. The flowers are small and blue in color, and are mixed with short stems as big as pins. They are very fragrant, and when rubbed on the hand leave a delicate and pleasant odor. I'll guarantee that nine out of ten persons who use lavender water in their toilet have not the vaguest idea what lavender flowers look like. Speaking of lavender water reminds me that although it is so called, the perfume used is not lavender water but lavender extract."

"How does it come to this country?"

"In packages of three hundred pounds each. It is not very expensive. We sell it at twelve cents a pound."

"In what form is it imported other than the flower?"

"The extract and the essential oil. The latter is a volatile oil upon which the odor depends. The ordinary oil sells for from $1.75 to $8 per pound. Wicham's oil of lavender, which gets its name from Wicham's garden in London, costs $4.25 an ounce. An ounce of fairly good oil will perfume four or five gallons of alcohol."

"Is lavender not also used for medicinal purposes?"

"It is a remedy for nervous debility and one or two other complaints. It is very pleasant to the taste, and for this reason is often mixed with other medicines. The best lavender extract is made in Germany. In fact, many of the French perfumers have their lavender extracts made in Germany, because they make them better than anywhere else."

"I understand that you have fought a duel with your old enemy Snarley?" "Yes." "What was the result?" "Why, when they brought the pistols on to the field I discovered they were some of my own make. I manufactured them for boys, you know—advertise them in all the juvenile and religious journals and sell them cheap." "Yes." "Well, I refused to take either, but magnanimously permitted Snarley to keep them both." "Well?" "That was all; he fell dead at the first fire."

The Family Doctor Shop.

Nearly every person knows what to do in case of injury or sickness, but it often happens that under the excitement attending such circumstances they become confused and forget all they know about it. The following suggestions might be pasted up on the inside of the closet or bookcase door, where they could be referred to promptly.

For stomach cramps, ginger ale or a teaspoonful of the tincture of ginger in a half-glass of water in which half a teaspoonful of soda has been dissolved.

Swallowing saliva often relieves sour stomach.

Hot, dry flannels applied as hot as possible for neuralgia.

Whooping-cough paroxysms are relieved by breathing the fumes of turpentine or carbolic acid.

For cold in the head nothing is better than powdered borax sniffed up the nostrils.

A strong solution of bicarbonate of soda (baking soda), taken frequently, is a reliable remedy for diarrhœal troubles, particularly those arising from acidity of the stomach.

A standing antidote for poison by dew, poison oak, ivy, etc., is to take a handful of quicklime, dissolve in water, let it stand a half an hour, then paint the poisoned parts with it. Three or four applications will never fail to cure the most aggravated case.

If children do not thrive on fresh milk it should be boiled.

Powdered resin is the best thing to stop bleeding from cuts. After the powder is sprinkled on wrap the wound with a soft cotton cloth. As soon as the wound begins to feel feverish keep the cloth wet with cold water.

For burns sweet oil and cotton are the standard remedies. If they are not at hand sprinkle the burned part with flour and wrap loosely with a soft cloth. Don't remove the dressing until the inflammation subsides, as it will break the new skin that is forming.

For nose bleeding bathe the face and neck with cold water.

If an artery is severed tie a small cord or handkerchief tightly above it.

For bilious colic soda and ginger in hot water. It may be taken freely.

Broken limbs should be placed in natural positions and the patient kept quite until the surgeon arrives.

Nervous spasms are usually relieved by a little salt taken into the mouth and allowed to dissolve.

Hemorrhages of the lungs or stomach promptly checked by small doses of salt. The patient should be kept as quiet as possible.

Sleeplessness caused by too much blood in the head may be overcome by applying a cloth wee with cold water to the back of the neck.

For pains in the chest and stomach, as much Dover's powder as will lie on a silver five-cent piece.

Wind colic is promptly relieved by pepper-mint essence taken in a little warm water. For children it may be sweetened. Paregoric is also good.

Chlorate of potash dissolved in water is a standard remedy for sore throat, particularly if the throat feels raw.

Tickling in the throat is best relieved by a gargle of salt and water.

Indigestion is the prolific cause of colics, diarrhœa, headaches, constipation and many diseases of the bladder. Food that is not digested ferments and becomes powerfully acid, causing irritation and inflammation wherever it touches. Many fevers are caused by it. Pepsin is the best remedy, if taken immediately after eating. If pepsin is not taken the acidity should be controlled by bicarbonate of soda or potash.

Sickness of the stomach is most promptly relieved by drinking a tea cupfull of hot soda and water. If it brings the offending matter up all the better.

A teaspoonfull of ground mustard in a cup of warm water is a prompt and reliable emetic, and should be resorted to in cases of poisoning or cramps in the stomach from over eating.

Pains in the side are most promptly relieved by the application of mustard.

Sprains and bruises call for an application of the tincture of arnica.

Avoid purgatives and strong physics, as they not only do no good, but are positively hurtful. Pills may relieve for the time, but they seldom cure. Stomach bitters are a snare, and only create a desire for stimulants.

Eat only such things as agree with you, and not too much at a time. By heeding the warnings of your stomach many doctor bills and even undertakers' too, may be avoided. Give children plenty of milk and bread, graham or oatmeal crackers, and good, ripe fruit. They will not only thrive on this diet, but keep healthy.

In every house there should be a little nook in which a few simple remedies are kept. Among them should be extract of ginger, Dover's powder, pepperment, chlorate of potash, bicarbonate of soda, sweet oil, paregoric, camphor, arnica, a bottle of pure whiskey, cotton, old muslin for bandages, sticking plaster, a box of ground mustard and some ready-made mustard plasters. Always strike a light when you go to get any of these in the dark, and be sure you have the right one.

Intemperance in Germany.

Consul General Vogelen at Frankfort-on-the Main, in a despatch to the State Department, Washington, on intemperance in North Germany, says: "The average annual consumption of ardent spirits in North Germany is 10 to 11 litres per head, being equal, according to the estimates, to from 31 to 35 litres for each male drinking person per year. The number of drinking places in Prussia has risen from 119,945 in 1869 to 165,640 in 1880; of these 93,000 were places in which ardent spirits were sold, being one such place to 164 inhabitants. But not only the consumpton of ardent spirits, but also that of beer any wine is increasing throughout Germany, the average consumption of beer in Prussia being 87.6 liters per head annually. The number of persons who became insane in consequence of excessive drinking (delirium tremens) in Prussia from 1875 to 1879 was 3,453, or 14.84 persent of all demented persons. Of 32,837 criminals convicted during the same period 13,706, or 41 percent were ascertained to have commited the crime while under the influence of liquor. Of 4,150 suicides commited during said period 508 were the result of excessive drinking and delirium. In Northern Germany more than 50 percent of all pauperism is due to excessive drinking. What, in view of this fearful showing, asks the organization, is done? Forty years ago a strong popular movement was organized to check the vice of drinking, but the storm of the revolution of 1848, which followed soon after, turned, the attention of the Germna Government and people to other and more immediately pressing subjects. In 1886 the laws regulating taverns and drinking resorts were made more stringent in most of the German States, but the trade law (Gewerbe-Gesetz) of 1869 adopted by Imperial Government made inoperative many of the provisions of those laws. Since then the number of drinking places has increased from 70 to 75 percent by reason of which profits have decreased, which circumstauce again compels dealers in intoxicating drinks to hold out to the public additional inducements.

LAW AND ORDER.

The scene of excitement that occurred at the Theatre Royal on Thursday evening on the occasion of Colonel Ingersoll's lecture, was a most disgraceful one. The attempt on the part of the authorities to prevent persons from entering the hall was illadvised at such a time. If the hall was unsafe in the opinion of the inspectors they should have ascertained that fact long before Col. Ingersoll had been promised it to deliver his lecture in. Could anything be more preposterous than to order a hall cleared after it was two-thirds full of people who had paid their money to hear the lecture! It laid the authorities open to the charge of interfering with free speech, and however much the orthodox of our city regret that the young and easily influenced of our people should be led to listen to the "arch infidel," still the free laws of the country must not be discarded. The attempts of the police to prevent persons from entering were frustrated by the unruly crowd cutting an opening through the outer wall of the building as was described in yesterday morning's paper. There was another incident of the altercation on Thursday evening which deserves the severest censure. We mean the interference with the police in the performance of their duty. It is a recognized custom in all communities that in excitements of a public kind the police are to be obeyed when trying to preserve order. And even should they be largley in the wrong it is the duty of citizens to submit to their authority, knowing that afterwards they may find redress. On Thursday evening the police were opposed and buffeted in a way which would have called forth a volley of blows from the policemen's clubs in any other city or else the leaders of the disturbance would have been marched off to prison. Respect for the law should be demanded on all occasions. If the administrators of the law exceed their duty they can be reached afterwards by those who may consider themselves aggrieved. But we hope never again to see or hear of the Victoria chief of police or any of his force submitting quietly to abuse, assault or threats when they are only enforcing the orders which their superiors have given them to carry out.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

The value of our telegraphic dispatches has been fully seen during the last few days on account of the very important news that has been coming through. The last few days have been crowded with stirring events in foreign countries. From England and Egypt has come the news of the preparations for the rescue of General Gordon, and from Canada accounts of the mustering of troops to aid in the expedition. The news from China has been of the most exciting kind. After the dilly-dallying between that power and France for months the French have redeemed their promise of punishing China if it refused to pay the indemnity demanded for the breach of treaty. The engagement at Foo Chow was fierce and deadly, the Chinese loss in ships and men being very large. The victory has been followed up by the reduction of all the forts in the vicinity. Another demand will now probably be made for the $250,000,000, but if it is again refused the French have avowed their intention of humbling the Chinese so that they will be obliged to acknowledge French supremacy in Tonquin. In yesterday's telegrams it was stated that M. Ferry declared that they have no intention of interfering with commerce, which course has been rather dreaded by England, the United States and other countries interested. The news of the spread of cholera into Italy and Switzerland is discouraging. It seems probable that it is bound to be very widely extended, as was feared at the beginning of the outbreak.

THE INJUNCTION CASE.

This case was argued before the Chief Justice in chambers yesterday morning and was adjourned to enable the attorney-general's name to be inserted in the complaint as plaintiff It was rumored last evening that the attorney-general will decline to allow his name to appear in the proceedings. If this rumor should prove correct it is difficult to see what steps the opponents of the agricultural show can next take in furtherance of their plans. Mr. Anderson, the complainant, must show that he will or has received personal damage or injury through the erection of the buildings; and this, it is hoped, he will not be able to do. The case will come up again at 12 o'clock to-day.

English Mail.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Mr. Andrew Carnegie, the American iron master, has a syndicate of liberal newspapers, under the management of Mr. Samuel Storey, M. P., which has considerable influence in the political world. The St. James Gazette, in an article this afternoon, comments on an interview with Mr. Carnegie, originally published in Pittsburg. The Gazette declares that the present agitation against the house of lords originated in America, that it is an attempt to infuse republican sentiments into English politics, so that the movement with all its paraphernalia of processions, monster meetings and other factitious machinery, which American politicians know so well how to handle, is entirely unknown in English sentiment, and is the result of American influence and paid for by American dollars. It charges Mr. Carnegie with being at the head of a conspiracy which is more subtle and more dangerous than that of the dynamiters, and which seeks to destroy both the crown and the house of lords.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The Pall Mall Gazette to-day contains a notable poem by Algernon Swinburne. It is a political philippic entitled "Clear The Way," and it abounds in highly spiced and vehement abuse of the tory peer, whom it invites to clear the way for the irresistable progress of human freedom or to accept the fate of a swarm of pigmies attempting to dam the current of a deluge.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCHES TO THE COLONIST.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

CHINA.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 29.—The European residents of Shanghai remain unmolested. Many Chinese, however, have become alarmed and are leaving the city and foreign settlement. The chief magistrate and consuls issued placards urging the natives to remain as the French have no present intention of attacking Shanghai or Woo Sang. The Chinese authorities have received an important telegram from Pekin, the purport of which is not precisely known. Reports say, however, that China is desirous of coming to an agreement with France.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—A Times' Foo Chow dispatch last night says, since the French descended the river, the Chinese have looted and burned the foreigners' quarters in the city. Much dissatisfaction is expressed at the action of the French in bombarding the city without landing troops for the protection of foreigners. It is reported that Germany has protested against this action. The Chinese complain that English pilots guided the French fleet during the engagement, thus committing a breach of the neutrality laws.

EGYPT.

SUAKEM, Aug. 28.—The rebels succeeded last night in removing two mines which had been laid near the town for the purpose of exploding when they attacked the garrison. They also captured seven dhows near the harbor and killed four sailors. The other sailors and dhows, seven in number, escaped. The rebels took three dhows and 25 prisoners. They had captured fifty mines south of Suakem, where it is reported the rebels have collected a large force. The British man-of-war Condor will proceed to this port.

CANADA.

MONTREAL, Aug. 28.—As a section of the British Association was about beginning business to-day, Lieutenant Greely entered and was immediately surrounded, and was welcomed in an expressive manner by Sir Henry Fefrey.

LONCON, Aug. 29.—The Canadian government replying to the reference from the Privy Council of the memorial of the ranch holders of the Western United States, asking for freedom to import cattle through Canada to England, refuse to grant the request on the ground that there will be a risk of introducing disease both into Canada and Great Britain.

AUSTRIA.

VIENNA, Aug. 29.—Another large sugar firm has failed whose liabilities exceed those of Weinrich, who failed for $4,000,000 on Monday.

GERMANY.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—It is intended to raise a corps of soldiers for colonial service. The German colonial farms, which require military protection, will provide funds for the corps. Such arrangement is necessary, as the Prussian military system will not allow regular trsops sent abroad.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—An enthusiastic demonstration was held in the Lyceum Theatre last night, the occasion being Henry Irving's farewell performance, Richelieu being given Irving was called before the curtain and in response to the hearty reception said: "Ladies and gentlemen, we are now, at the end of a brief season, about to leave for about six months, to again resume friendly intercourse with the great people of America. Our tour will extend from Canada to San Francisco. Upon our return, I intend to settle permanently at home."

The government has contracted with a Chicago firm to supply 500,000 pounds of compressed beef for the Gordon relief expedition.

EASTERN STATES.

DENVER, Col., Aug. 29.—At 11 o'clock last night a train belonging to the Anglo-American Circus left Fort Collins for Golden, via Greely, Salt Lake, and other points on the Union Pacific road. Forty minutes later, when near Greely, the sleeping car, in which 75 men employed as roustabouts of the circus were asleep, caught fire and was wholly consumed. Ten men perished.

SECOND DISPATCH.

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—The death of S. H. Collins, proprietor of the well known Collins saloon, is announced this morning from dropsy. He came here in 1852, and was aged 53. He leaves a fortune estimated at half a million dollars.

EASTERN STATES.

NEWPORT, Aug. 29.—President Arthur dined with James Gordon Bennett last night.

EVANSVILLE, Aug. 29.—At nine o'clock this morning the most destructive hurricane ever felt here broke upon Evansville, doing damage of not less than a quarter of a million dollars in the city and vicinity. Houses were blown down, roofs carried away, three or four steamers badly injured, thousands of shade trees torn up by the roots, and other injury. It is impossible at this hour to give the amount of damage done. Several churches suffered severely; also the new school house.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—The Daily News Evansville, Ind., dispatch says: The steamer Belmont, the transfer boat, which leaves here at eight o'clock every morning, was struck by the storm about three miles this side of Henderson, Kentucky, sinking her barge and cars to the bottom, blowing the chimney off and sinking the steamer almost instantly. It is reported there were over thirty people on board, and only three are reported saved—a newsboy named Ranza, the cook and the pilot, who swam ashore. All the wires are down and most of the boats are crippled so as to be unable to go to the scene of the wreck.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 29.—The report that the transfer steamer Belmont was sunk near Henderson and 20 lives lost is not generally credited.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Steamer Esperanza from Marseilles, arrived at Cardiff with two cases of cholera on board and is quarantined.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 29.—The failure of W. I. Sutcliffe, coal merchant, is announced; liabilities between £80,000 and £100,000, and mostly in London cargoes.

IRELAND.

DUBLIN, Aug. 29.—The Duke of Edinburg with channel fleet is visiting Dublin harbor. This causes a great stir among the people, and the Duke is well received. Thousands flocked to Kingstown to visit the fleet, and the evening was made brilliant with balls and fireworks, and the illumination of the war ships. The Freeman's Journal remarks that such occurrences as this indicates how loyal the Irish might be if they were only accorded their just rights.

CHINA.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The Times' China correspondent at Foo Chow telgraphs that the foreign settlements are quiet in that city, and the natives seem friendly.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 29.—The French fleet destroyed the remains of the Chinese wrecks in Kin Pai channel, and are believed to have left Min river to-day, but their destination remains uncertain. It seems probable they are bound for Shanghai.

A Foo Chow dispatch explains that the foreigners' quarters were looted by Chinese.

MONTANA.

HELENA, Aug. 29.—Gov. Crosby states that the special agent sent by him to enquire into the condition of the Piegan Indians has just returned, and says that the Indians, about 2000, are dying from the effects of gradual starvation. The men and women are gaunt and spiritless, and the children emaciated All are so weakened by lack of sufficient food for the past two years. Suffering and death may occur shortly. Government agents are unnatural and inhuman.

THIRD DISPATCH.

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—Signor D. De Vivo, sues Cornelius & Stechhan for $249.76. The suit arises in connection with the operatic party that visited Victoria.

ENGLAND.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 29.—Heavy rainfall; wheat dull and easier.

TONQUIN.

PARIS, Aug. 29.—Gen. Millot, commander of the French forces in Tonquin, telegraphs that the Chinese are preparing to invade Tonquin. He awaits their advance with confidence.

ITALY.

ROME, Aug. 29.—Cholera cases in Italy the past twenty-four hours, 118; 26 deaths.

EGYPT.

ASSOUAN, Aug. 29.—Seven steamers have passed the first cataract of the Nile. The river is steadily rising.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

PANAMA, Aug. 29.—Tremendous rains yesterday caused a washout on the Panama railway. Passenger and freight trains have returned.

CHINA.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Advices received by the leading China houses in London from their branches at Foo Chow and Shanghai, show that no dread is entertained there of a native uprising, and business is proceeding as usual in London. Premiums on vessels on the China sea, which has been advanced to war rates, have fallen to-day to nominal rates. General confidence prevails, and an early settlement of the Franco-Chinese difficulties is looked for.

EASTERN STATES.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 29.—The loss of the transfer steamer Belmont and drowning of ten to fifteen persons, is confirmed.

A hurricane this forenoon capsized a boat at Stanley's landing, thirty miles above Henderson. She was going to Henderson with a barge containing the passengers of the Louisville & Nashville railway. The boat parted from the barge. All on the latter were saved and all on the boat except four or five were lost.

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 29.—On Thursday night at 11 o'clock a freight train on the Cleveland Loraine and Wheeling R. R., north with engine No. 4, when near Stillwater, jumped the track, turning almost completely over, and wrecking fourteen cars. Killed, John Eator, engineer, and James Bulger, brakeman. The engine was twisted and broken into a shapeless mass. The tender was on the top of the engine. The engineer was found seated on his cushion bent forward with his arms held over the top of his head. The brakeman was riding on the engine at the time of the accident, and was found at the back of the engine and held tight by part of the cab and embedded to the waist in cord-wood, that was stacked beside the track for shipment. He begged piteously to be released, and told three men who were working to release him from his burning prison, to kiss his babes for him, and to tell his wife that his last breath went out in prayer for her and his little ones. With their best efforts it took the men an hour to get him out. He was carried to the station and died at two o'clock.

COLORADO.

DENVER, Aug. 29.—The burning of the circus car was attended with indiscribable horrors. The burned car was next to the engine in a train of 17 cars containing the circus which left Fort Collins about midnight for Golden. The train was nearing Windsor, running 25 miles per hour when the engineer discovered the car to be on fire. He reversed the engine. There were sixty men in the car arranged in 3 tiers of berths on either side. The forward side door was closed and the men in bunks sleeping against it. The rear side-door was also closed and the men who awoke discovered the lower unoccupied berth next to it containing rubbish was on fire filling the car with smoke, cutting off the escape on that side. The only means of egress was through a small window between the car and the engine. The engineer tried to pass in water from the engine tank. Owing to the suffocating gas it was difficult to arouse the sleepers. Some were kicked and bruised in a shocking manner and pitched out of the window. The screams of those who were unable to get out were terrifying. The glare of the flames and sight of the burning victims outside who were writhing in agony on the cactus beds caused the wild beasts in the adjoining car to become frantic with terror and making the scene appalling. The performers who occupied rear cars gazed with white faces at the awful spectacle. In the midst of the confusion two or three heroic souls appeared equal to the occasion and bravely cut their way to their companions, but only to find them already in the agonies of death. An old Pacific Coast sailor named Macdonald was terribly burned, his flesh hanging in shreds. The heartrending cries of the men on the prairies, the appeals of the dying in the car, the roar of the flames and the howling of the animals made the scene terrible. The odor of roasting flesh and the distant cry of coyotes added to the general horror of the scene. Many of the rescued on being pulled through the small window had their limbs broken and joints dislocated. Hands and feet were found burned off, and the roasted trunks of bodies were found. In one place were legs and in another piles of roasted, shrivelled carcasses that had been pulled out of the ruins.

DELAYED DISPATCHES.

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—A cable dispatch received in this city quotes California wheat in the English market at 35 shillings 6 pence to 36 shillings a quarter. As the lowest average price of English grown wheat during the last hundred years is 36 shillings, and as California grain has always ranked higher than English grown wheat, the present prices show that the average of the present year is below that of any year during the present century.

Professor Sanger, of the girls' high school, who was suspended last week on a charge made by Archbishop Alemany, of the Roman Catholic Church, has been reinstated. The charge was that Sanger in commenting on history lesson had made statements prejudicial to the Catholic Church, and at the investigation last night it was proved that Sanger had simply set forth the causes leading to the Reformation. The board did not think this was a sufficient occasion to dismiss Sanger, and the decision was made accordingly. The Catholics are greatly chagrined at the action of the board.

EASTERN STATES.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—A special from Dayton, Ohio, says: Franz Waltzman starved to death yesterday. He had seen better circumstances, and was too proud to beg. He leaves a wife and several children. His wife tells a horrible story of his death. She says while he lay dying the children surrounded his couch and sobbed piteously for bread. His wife asked her neighbors for a loaf of bread Saturday but was refused, and on Sunday morning when she finally sent for a physician the dying father was so far gone that he could not swallow when the doctor arrived, his sufferings having been so terrible as to produce something akin to lock jaw. This case is the saddest that has ever occurred in or near this city. The children are between one and thirteen years of age, and not even the next door neighbor knew that the family were suffering for the want of bread.

EUROPE.

NEW YORK, Aug 27.—A London cable special says Lord Cahir, an Irish peer, is the hero of the latest escapade. He amused himself by getting uproariously drunk in a coffee room at Deplend and getting into an altercation with the manager. An attempt was made to put his lordship out of the place, and ultimately he was handed over to the police. When arraigned before the magistrate Cahir assaulted the prosecutor in open court with a torrent of abuse, calling him a scoundrel, a wretch and a liar. When rebuked by the magistrate for his conduct, his lordship became highly indignant, and menaced the police with violence until brought to his senses by a threat of committal. Finally he was bound over to keep the peace for six months.

Early Life of the Queen of Roumania.

Rushing down the stairs one day with her habitual impetuosity, she slipped and would have fallen to the bottom, had not a gentleman who was ascending at the same moment caught her in his arms. It was a fall laden with unexpected consequences, for she had fallen into the arms of her future husband. But as yet she was not to rest in them for good. The young Princess evinced an almost savage dislike to matrimony, and in response to all proposals of marriage made to her replied: "I do not want to be married unless I can be Queen of Roumania." The reply seemed a very safe one in those days, when Roumania had but just been founded, and only as a principality, under the boyard rule of the worthless Prince Couza. She little realized that later she would be taken at her word. Meantime she went home again to Wied, and rosumed her offices in the sick-room and her studies; or until she was 25, indeed until she married, Princess Elizabeth never ceased to take lessons. * * * Meanwhile, European public events were changing, a change destined to affect the "wild rose-bud of Wied," as her friends loved to call her. In 1868 Prince Charles of Hohenzollern had been chosen ruler of Roumania, and in the autumn of the next year he came to remind the Princess Elizabeth of her desire to rule over that kingdom. Even so it was a little while before she could consent to resign her fiercely cherished independence, but she yielded, and in November of the same year he took her to his home amid the Carpathians, after she had been united to him four times over, namely: according to the German civil code, according to the Lutheran, her own religion, according to the Roman Catholic, which is his, and according to the rites of the Greek Church, which is the creed of their kingdom.—From an article by Helen Zimmern, in the August Century.

Broke Her Pipe.

"I wancher to be pow'ful tickler wid dat pipe," warned Aunt Ginecy to Uncle Sykes, as the latter picked up her clay pipe and limped around the house to his favorite seat against the chimney.

He had been gone only a few moments when Aunt Ginecy heard a terrible rumbling on the outside, followed by a negro woman running in and crying mournfully:

"Oh, Aunt Ginecy, de chimbly done fall and kill ole Uncle Sykes!"

With pain-distorted countenance and terror blended in her gaze, Aunt Ginecy looked passionately up and moaned:

"Dar, now, bress de Lawd; an' I bets a dollar dat hit done broke my pipe all to pieces."

There are over 700 light-houses and twenty-five floating light stations on American coasts and rivers, supported at a yearly cost of $1,889,000.

In Waterbury, Conn., a farmer loaded some hay on a wagon and started for the barn, but a shower overtook him and he had to unload it. The next day he tried it again with the same result. The third day his experience was the same. On the fourth day it came upon him once more, when he set fire to the load and burned it, wagon and all.

DEATHS.

In this city, on the 29th instant, Ann Blinkhorn, a native of Huntingdonshire, England, aged 80 years and 18 days.

The funeral will take place on SUNDAY at 2:30 p. m., from the residence of Mrs. Ella, Fort street, and at 3 o'clock from the Reformed Episcopal Church.

Collision at Harrison.

(Special to The Colonist.)

YALE, Aug. 29, 1884.

There was a collision between a passenger train from Port Hammond and a gravel train two miles below Harrison river bridge yesterday morning at ten o'clock. Two locomotives were smashed up. One turned over on its side, and the running gear was knocked off. Ten cars with freight are piled up on both sides of the track. One engineer is slightly injured.

Death of Mrs. Blinkhorn.

Little did the gay and happy throng who gathered at the residence of Mrs. Ella, a few evenings ago, to do honor to a pioneer lady whose span of life had exceeded the allotted period by ten years, imagine that within a very brief span of time they would be called on to assemble about her bier and lay her away to rest in the bosom of the land she had learned to love so well. Yet so it is. Mrs. Blinkhorn, the honored hostess of the occasion first referred to, yesterday closed her gentle and lovable life surrounded by sorrowing relatives and sympathetic friends, after a short illness. Mrs. Blinkhorn and her husband came here more than 50 years ago as the first white settlers on Vancouver Island independent of the Hudson Bay Company servants. Mr. Blinkhorn died about five years after arriving; and Mrs. Blinkhorn lived long enough to crown a lovely and useful life with a beautiful old age, falling asleep at last in the happy consciousness of a blissful hereafter.

Supreme Court.

(Before Sir M. B. begbie and a Jury.)

FRIDAY, Aug. 20.

McKillican & Anderson vs. Reveley—This case went to the jury late in the evening, and a verdict was rendered for the plaintiff in the entire sum claimed, of $2,372, with $100 interest, which latter sum, however, was offset by $100 damages awarded defendant for work not performed by plaintiffs.

Plaintiffs have leave to notice that they would move for judgment as soon as vacation is over.

The Salmon Frauds.

W. T. Coleman & Co., of San Francisco, is the firm who are charged with perpetrating enormous frauds on Columbia river and Fraser river cannery companies by presenting bogus claims for reclamation on tinned salmod from English buyers. Several heavy suits against the firm have been instituted by their alleged victims.

Volunteers for Egypt.

It is reported on apparently good authority that several officers of the Victoria Garrison Artillery, who recently passed successful examinations, have volunteered for active service in Egypt. It is believed that two of the applications for service will be favorably entertained; so Victoria society may expect to lose, at least for a time, the presence of two of its favorites.

HANLAN'S HONESTY.—The London Advertiser says: Our esteemed contemporaries, in speaking of the Hanlan Beach boat race, unite in agreeing that, whatever the cause of the Canadian's defeat, it could not have been the result of "crooked" work or affected by the state of the betting. There is a good deal of nonsense talked about Hanlan's "honesty." Hanlan's "honesty" once ruled him off a race-course.

Supreme Court.

[Before His Lordship Chief Justice Begbie.]

[In Chambers.]

Anderson vs. The Corporation and Jas. D. Bryant and Thomas Russell, president and secretary of the Agricultural Society.

Mr. Pollard on behalf of the corporation and Mr. Hett on behalf of Thomas Russell, moved to dissolve the injunction which had been granted against the erection of the agricultural buildings on Beacon Hill Park.

The learned gentlemen argued that a suit for the violation of a public duty could not be brought by a private party alone unless he had sustained individual damage, but that the attorney-general must sue on behalf of the public citizen. Joyce on Injunctions, p. 722. Stockport & Co. vs. Corporation of Manchester, L. R. 9 Eq., 216. Winterbottam vs. Derby, L. R. 2 Ex., 216. They also argued that the erection of agricultural buildings did not so interfere with the park as a place of recreation as to constitute a breach of the trust created under the act, citing Attorney-General vs. Sunderland, L. R. 2 Ch. D., 644, and Lewin on Trusts.

Mr. Hett also argued that the name of Mr. Russell should in any event be struck out, as he was merely the secretary of the society, and had not individually or otherwise directed any of the matters complained of.

The judge said that if there was nothing more to urge upon the merits of the case it appeared to him clear enough that those causing the erection of the buildings were clearly acting beyond their powers. He also thought that the Agricultural Society, not being an incorporated one, Mr. Russell, as secretary, was properly sued. He thought, however, that possibly the contractor might be joined.

Upon the point that the attorney-general must be a party, his lordship called on counsel for the plaintiff to answer that objection.

Mr. Theodore Davie said that the objection was merely one of non-joinder of parties, which before the judicature act would have been the subject of demurrer, but since the new practice could not avail to defeat an action, as rule 99 provided that no suit should be abated or defeated for non-joinder or mis joinder of parties either as plaintiffs or defendants, but that the court might in proper cases cause necessary parties to be added or struck out, as occasion required. The joinder of the attorney-general in a case like the present was only a matter of general practice and not of universal application, citing Nuneaton Local Board and Sewerage Society, L. R. 20 Eq., and in many cases the attorney-general would decline to appear as a plaintiff for obvious reasons.

His lordship said that what he considered best to do would be to continue the injunction until to-morrow at noon, for the plaintiff to add such other parties as he might be advised. So ordered.

Sailing Match.

The sailing match for $100 aside between Mr. L. Wilton's "Alert" and Mr. T. Jones' "Scud" took place yesterday afternoon, the yachts starting away at 1:05 o'clock. The wind was very light being from the S. W. The Alert immediately took the lead, followed closely by the Scud. The yachts rounded the buoys in the following order:

Bell buoy	Alert,	1 58 o'clock
"	Scud,	2.00 "
Esquimalt buoy	Alert,	2.59 "
"	Scud,	3 00 "
Bell buoy	Alert,	3 55 "
"	Scud,	4.09 "
The finish	Alert,	4.48 "
"	Scud,	5.07 "

This was a very closely contested race, the yachts being "nip and tuck" until off Macauley's Point, on the home stretch, when the Alert hoisted an immense "balloon jib" and skipped away from the Scud in grand style, crossing the winning point just nineteen minutes ahead of her. Both yachts were magnificently handled and it was plainly to be seen that yachting experts were on board.

The Scene of the Lecture.

The exterior of Theatre Royal presented a woebegone appearance yesterday morning. An attempt had been made to restore the weatherboarding by nailing a few broken planks across the gap where Mr. Fell with his burly form the night before—like another Leonidas at the pass of Thermopyla—stood and breasted back the incoming wave of dead-heads. The doors gave evidence of the pressure that had been brought to bear upon them by the surging crowd of ticketholders. The interior appeared about as usual, the only visible remnant of the disorder being a hairpin—which a representative of THE COLONIST found on the floor of the auditorium and which he will henceforth wear as a memento of an exciting scene which nearly became a serious riot.

Panic in Dry Goods—Albion House.

During the present excitement we intend giving our customers 10 per cent. discount for cash. Our goods are already marked as low as our neighbors, so that the advantage of the 10 per cent. is obvious.

"Dead as a Door Nail."

The Nanaimo Free Press says:—"Most of our readers will remember that in May last an account appeared in the Free Press of the reported death of the Chinaman who was injured at the time poor Neil McLean was killed at Wellington. The coroner was notified of the death and proceeded to East Wellington to hold an inquest, but Dr. Walkem, colliery surgeon, in the meantime went to examine the presumed cadaver, and on taking hold of the injured limb received a practical demonstration in the shape of a kick from the uninjured limb that the Celestial had not flown to the bosom of Confucius, but was still of the earth earthy. At that time the Chinaman was under the treatment of the Chinese doctor, who had removed the dressing of Dr. Walkem. His leg was in a frightful state, and Dr. Cluness gave it as his opinion that unless amputation was resorted to the patient would die. After four months' intense suffering the Chinaman died on Friday night. The house was entirely deserted, the friends, in their superstitious dread of accidental death, having fled and carried all the household effects with them. The body was buried on the Departure Bay road on Sunday, and an eye-witness informs us that the grave was not over 15 inches in depth, the coffin being 12 inches deep, would leave about THREE inches of earth on top. With such a disregard of sanitary precautions, is it not a miracle that Nanaimo has been free from an epidemic But it should be stopped at once, and the Chinese compelled to adopt the same standard of sanitary regulations that is enforced on the white population." At the inquest it was shown that the Chinese doctor removed the dressing applied by Dr. Walkem, and then deserted the man. The jury found—"That the deceased came to his death, not from injuries received on April 30, 1884, but from want of skillful attendance, the deceased refusing attendance from the colliery surgeon.

Fay Templeton Company.

To say that the audience at Philharmonic Hall last evening were delighted with the performance would convey but a feeble idea of the satisfaction afforded by the matchless Fay Templeton troupe, which is the largest, the best costumed and the most talented that has ever appeared here. The bright and sparkling young lady whose name has most appropriately been adopted by the company, in herself is an attraction, her delightful young voice and admirable acting charming all who attended. The opera was Suppe's "Fatinitza," which abound in beautiful tableaux and startling situations. Miss Templeton took the role of Valdimir (afterwards Fatinitza), an admirable rendition. Tizzet Pasha was assumed by Mr. Harry Brown, who is a most talented and promising young actor and won frequent and hearty applause. The chorus is full, being mostly composed of sweet young female voices that have had the benefit of careful training.... This afternoon "La Belle Coquette," and this evening, "Olivette." Seats may and should be secured at Waitt's.

The Sound Steamers.

It is reported that the steamer Olympian (just withdrawn from the Sound service) and the Alaskan will be put on the San Francisco route. The report, however, is not regarded seriously. The Seattle Chronicle says the Olympian is too expensive a boat for the Sound service. She requires two engineers, two water tenders, two oilers and eight firemen, whereas the Geo. E. Starr is run with only two engineers and two firemen, and consumes only half the amount of coal that the Olympian does. The Olympian is the fastest beam-engine boat on the Sound. Her rate of speed on her trial trip was twenty-two knots per hour. She worked, however, her four boilers. While running on the Sound, she used only two boilers. The Olympian is the pride of the Sound, and there would be general regret at this change.

WILL RESIST REDUCTION.—The employés of the O. R. & N. Co., whose wages, it has been announced, will be reduced after Sept. 1st, will decline to accept the reduced rate. The amount of the reduction has not been made public, and the company's agents have given no official notice as yet to their employés, but having no option themselves in the matter, it will not be long delayed. The attempt will be resisted, as the engineers' union, 300 strong, has already called a meeting, and are determined to stand by their associates, while the sailors, who also have a protective association, intend to adopt the same line of tactics. Various attempts have been made to reduce the pay of steamship men, but they have in all cases failed.

THE VICTORIA HOUSE CLEARANCE SALE being brought to a successful termination, the store will be closed for fourteen days to complete the improvements, and will reopen on the first day of September with a complete stock of new fall goods. The proprietor will be in attendance daily to receive and pay accounts. *

A CORNISH TOWN AND CASTLE FOR SALE.—On Wednesday the Boscastle Estate, comprising Bottreaux Castle, building sites, farms, meadows, orchards, &c., in all 1,000 acers, and nearly the whole of the town of Boscastle, in Cornwall, with the harbor, quays, and minerals on the land, was offered for public sale at the City Auction Mart, Tokenhouse yard, by Mr. E. Fox (Messrs. Fox and Bousfield), who stated that the history of Boscaftle was that of the boundary of the borderland so hotly contested between the Saxons and the Celts and as early as the fifth century it was under the sway of King Arthur, the ruins of whose castle crowned the hill-top of Tintagel, close by. Among the title deeds in the present vendor's possession was a confirmation under the Great Seal of Queen Elizabeth, dated February 12, 1583, of the grant by Edward II. in 1312 of all the markets and fairs of Bottreaux Castle, the ancient seat of the Norman French family of Bottrell, or Bottreaux, who settled here in the reign of Henry II., and fought among the rebel barons against Henry III. in 1264. The sale included a moiety of the advowson to the rectories of Forrabury and Minster, both their churches on the estate. The bidding, which commenced with an offer of £30,000, did not advance beyound £55,000, which was below the reserve price, and the property was not sold.—Toronto Times.

(Per Northern Pacific Railway.)

Montreal, August 18.—A member of the British Association writing from Somerset, United States, approaches the president of the society in this fashion:—"To His Highness Lord Rayleigh, Montreal, Canada." The same mistake is made by a member from Pittsburg who writes "To His Highness Sir William Thompson."

A letter has been received from Henry J. Bowditch, M. D., Boston, in which he says:—"England's queen, Victoria, in the way she has educated her children and in the example she presents before the world, of the beauty of a pure home life, has more influence for good than any other person upon the whole English speaking race."

Quebec, August 19,——A systematic robbery of registered letters has been going on in St. Rochs for some time and suspicion rested on a letter carrier named Jno. Dumoniter, who was closely watched and was caught yesterday in the act of opening a letter and abstracting the money. He then confessed all. He was at once arrested and placed in the lock up for the night. This morning he was found dead in the cell. It is thought the cause of death is from drink.

MIDLAND, ONT., August 20—At noon on Monday the furniture store of T. Offer took fire and soon it and Mr. Perrins' picture gallery were in flames. Mr. Perrin and his wife, who were down stairs eating dinner, rushed upstairs where the flames were fiercely burning. On reaching the top, Mr. Perrins' ears, face and hair were badly burned, and his wife cried "save me!" she being overpowered with the heat smoke. Mr. Perrin caught her in his arms and jumped from the gallery, and narrowly escaped with their lives.

MONTREAL, Aug. 22.—This afternoon a young French-Canadian jumped off the steamer Berthier into the river. A boat was soon lowered, but no traces of the suicide could be found. He is supposed to have been a brother of Dr. G. O. Beadry, Professor of Physiology, Victoria University, who about noon gave the police notice that his brother had left home threatening to drown himself.

PETERBORO, Aug. 21.—Last night an epidemic of burglaries broke out in this place, no less than three places having been visited with tools stolen from a blacksmith's shop.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The child who was burned to death at Petrolia, on Monday evening, was the daughter of Mr. James Fiddes, formerly of this city, and the remains were brought here for interment yesterday.

HALIFAX, Aug. 21.—Full returns are now in for the local election just closed, giving the Hon. W. S. Fielding nearly 200 majority.

QUEBEC, Aug. 20.—We are getting the full benefit of the torrid wave here; the glass marked over 97 degrees in the shade to-day, and working in the sun was next to impossible.

BETHLEHEM, N. H., Aug. 20.—A four-horse mountain coach upset to-day by the horses running away. The following persons are injured:—Mrs. Camp, Brooklyn, fracture of elbow, spine injured, and contusions; Mrs. James, aged 82, Montreal, three ribs and left arm fractured, wound in the forehaad and generally dangerously hurt; Miss Foote, Montreal, bruises and cuts in the face; Mrs. McIntosh, Montreal, contusions of the forehead and spine; Miss Brooks, Newburyport, bad wound on forehead; child two years old, badly hurt.

KINGSTON, Aug. 21.—Mrs. King, secretary of the National Dress Association of Great Britain, and a travelling companion, are in the city. They created a sensation on the street by wearing short print skirts and trousers of the same material. They are on their way to Toronto.

Corn and other succulents are suffering for want of rain.

All the cotton in the store-room of the Kingston mill has been sold, and an order for 250 bales has been received. The mill will be in operation again about the first of September.

G. Hernby, a Kingston and Pembroke brakeman, got jammed between two cars to-day. His internal injuries are serious.

HAMILTON, Aug. 21.—A terrible accident happened this morning at the new purifying house now being erected at the city gas works. A carpenter named William Fogwell was assisting in taking down a scaffold on the south side of the building when it suddenly gave way and precipitated him to the ground, a distance of 20 feet, breaking his neck. Death was instantaneous. Deceased was about 44 years of age, and leaves a wife and six children.

Edward Gradwell, who was committed to the assizes for house robbery, as reported in the Globe of Wednesday, escaped from the county gaol yesterday. He was last seen about eight o'clock in the morning, and was not missed until three o'clock in the afternoon. It is supposed that he escaped through the bars of the cell window.

GUELPH, Aug. 21.—A melancholy accident occurred in the Speed River last evening. The victim was Alexander McArthur, aged 25. Shortly after nine o'clock the unfortunate young man went bathing with two companions in the neighborhood of the Speed skating rink. Being the only proficient swimmer in the company he struck out into the water alone. After the lapse of several minutes he was missed by his companions, who concluded he had taken a dive, but as he subsequently rose to the surface and immediately sank again, they knew he was drowned. The deceased was a Scotchman, who in company with John Goour, one of his companions on last night's fatal expedition, had been sent out three months ago by a Glasgow firm as clerk in Jno. Hogg & Son's establishment here. He has no relations in this country, and was the support of a mother whose husband died a year ago, and a sister, both living in Scotland.

STOMACH ACHE.—We all know what it is; we acquire a perfect knowledge of the "Pet" in our youth, after a raid on the green apples we were expressly forbidden to touch. Our mother gave us Perry Davis' Pain-Killer then, and strange to say, no other remedy has been discovered to this day to equal it. 8

IN LEAGUE WITH THE DEVIL.

Remarkably Credulous Saloon-Keeper Fleeced Out of His Cash.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 20.—The particulars of a novel swindle, perpetrated by a sharper, who played cleverly on the extraordinary credulity of his dupes, has been brought to light here through an application made to the authorities for the arrest of the swindler. George Schmidt, representing himself as a physician, engaged board here recently and soon began negotiations with J. Peter Dell, a saloonkeeper, for the alleged purchase of his establishment. During the conversation with Dell, Schmidt informed him, in as mysterious a manner as possible, and under injunctions of the strictest secrecy, that he had $95,000 buried in the ground. He also said he was in league with the evil one, and would show Dell how he could easily make a fortune. He then read from a book of incantations a lot of Black Crook rubbish, and strangely enough impressed Dell and his wife. Schmidt's scheme was that in order to propitiate the devil it would be necessary to bury $1,200 in a box; it would gradually sink to the infernal regions, and after his satanic majesty had found it all correct he would attach a box to it containing the $95,000. Dell hesitated a little, but his wife urged him to join Schmidt after the latter had agreed to put $650 in the "pot." The sum of $250 was still required, but another fool was found who promptly put it up.

The "doctor" and his victims then repaired at dead of night to a lonely spot in the woods. The money, $900 in gold and $400 in banknotes—was sealed up with black wax, the seal bearing a skull and cross-bones. The package was then placed in a cigar-box, sealed again, and after mumbling some jargon the box was buried. The three men then placed their right foot on the spot and repeated an oath not to dig up the treasure until a certain day. Schmidt declared that if any individual member of the trio attempted to dig up the box he would drop dead.

The men then separated and the next day Schmidt called on Dell and accompanied him to the Soldiers' Home. Here a telegram sent by a confederate was handed Schmidt, informing him that his "professional services" were required in a neighboring town. Excusing himself he took the first train and failed to return. Dell at last became suspicious, and upon digging up the box found it contained only a lot of stones. The search for Schmidt has thus far proved fruitless.

Concerning Adulteration.

Notwithstanding the press has been filled with sensational items against the adulteration of food and drugs, little or no alarm exists in the public mind regarding the general wholesomeness of the food supply, for the reason that, as a whole, it is purer than ever before. The special committee appointed by the Citizens' Association of Chicago to investigate the subject of food adulteration has made a very sensible report upon the matter, and while finding that adulteration is practiced with some articles the committee state that "it is fortunate for the community the most common and nutritious food in use either cannot be manipulated or is so cheap as to render the process unprofitable."

The every-day experience of consumers demonstrates to each individual the truth of the above. It is the abuse of food or the willful disregard of prudence in selecting food that is the parent of most of the illness attributed to adulteration or poison.

The methods of production and manufacture of food have so improved during the past-twenty-five years that the average quality of the world's food supply has been raised to a point far above that which formerly prevailed. Says Sir James Paget, in accounting for the diminished source of disease. "We have better, cheaper and more various food." This statement finds abundant confirmation in the reports of scientific men who are constantly examining the character of the food supply. For instance, in the report of James Bell, Principal of the Somerset House Laboratory, etc., he says in reference to tea: "Happily, at the present time, a great change has taken place for the better in the qualities of the teas found in commerce and supplied to the public." In the case of the Health Department of this city versus Purdon, alluded to in the Chicago report, the defendant won the suit, because there was no "satisfactory proof that the effect of such adulteration is to render the tea seriously detrimental to health and unwholesome as an article of drink." If, in addition to the confidence of the public in the general wholesomeness of food, there was more of common sense exercised in its selection, causes of complaint would be far less numerous.

Chemistry has wrought wonders in cheapening the cost and improving the quality of food, independent of its achievements in the field of food preservation. It has utilized vegetable products formerly wasted and transformed them into wholesome articles of food. Cotton seed oil is undoubtedly a better and more wholesome frying medium than lard. Glucose and oleomargarine, if properly made, are unobjectional in a health point of view, and, if sold for what they are, as is done by all respectable houses, they are a benefit to the community.

The world has never seen the time when there was as great a variety of cheap and wholesome food available for the masses as at present. Best of all is that steam transportation has made it possible for the citizens of every country upon the globe to enjoy the staples and luxuries produced throughout the world. There is an international exchange of food of superb quality that is wonderful in its extent.

The Chicago report also states a well recognized factor in the situation in the declaration that: "In the main, the compound used to reduce the quality or increase the bulk of any article of food or drink is not injurious to health." Is it any wonder that the people are apathetic if the bulk of the food is nutritious and the greater part of the adulterants used are harmless?

It cannot be denied, however, that food and drugs are to some extent debased with articles which are in themselves dangerous. Laws against this already exist, and by a proper system of inspection they can be enforced. The foolish demands of consumers are in some cases directly responsible for this, as in the color of confectionery, mustard and coffee.

Retail merchants who come in contact with consumers can do much to educate them out of such foolish preferences, and also by encouraging those manufacturers and dealers who endeavor to sell pure goods. Retail merchants should study the quality of the goods they buy more thoroughly than at present.

The very fact that manufactured goods are offered below the cost of the article in its crude state is evidence enough of its manipulation. Recently a party bought mustard in this city at 6½ cent per pound. It consisted of 80 per cent. of flour, and the balance something to give the stuff pungency, the mixture being colored with naphtal yellow. The buyer of such stuff is a self-confessed fraud.

We must admit, however, that many of the tales of adulteration are absurd and others exaggerated by parties interested in depreciating the stock of a competitor. We find many physicians, chemists and other specially interested parties spreading false or exaggerated reports of adulteration or poisoning from the use of food in obedience to an insatiable craving for notoriety.

The stories of coffee beans made from dough, and sugar adulterated with sand, are illustrations of how an absurdity is made to appear truth. The fierce war which is being waged against manufacturers of baking powder illustrates that competition does not always debase, and that if rightly exerted it may exert a powerful influence in preventing adulteration. The best packers of canned goods abandoned the inside soldering of cans to remove one cause of public criticism. And in their own interest they will undoubtedly seek to make any improvements which experience may suggest as beneficial to health or pleasing to the palate.

The Chicago report is right in its declaration that "what we need, primarily, is a National law." The time, however, will not be ripe for that until more of the States enact a law similar to that adopted by New York, New Jersey, Illinois and Massachusettts, and to all intents and purposes identical.

In this State the existing law would be sufficient to eradicate all the evils of adulterations were money provided whereby the State and local boards of health could make it effective. The Legislature provides a remedy and then makes it inoperative for want of funds.

No consumer who deals with retailers of high character need ever fear danger from the use of food. All the laws in the world are worthless if not executed. Then again those who advocate heaping legislative Pelion on Ossa proceed upon the assumption that consumers have not the slightest ability to decide between what is good and what is bad, and that they will proceed indefinitely to consume goods of bad quality, unless protected by law. Surely something can be trusted to the palate and good judgment of the average consumer, and is it not possible that paternal legislation can be carried too far in regulating our family affairs?—American Grocer and Dry Goods Chronicle.

Measures to be Taken to Make Government Responsible.

Congress must be enabled to settle all questions of national concern, and must have the range of the objects under its dominion extended sufficiently to prevent any petty local legislature from being able to thwart the will and endanger the welfare of the whole people. It must have full power to regulate the entire question of transportation, in order that artificial boundaries may not be the shelter and refuge of those powerful combinations who now regulate it to suit themselves. For the reason that transportation is so intimately allied to commerce that the two cannot in practice be separated, as well as for other reasons hardly less cogent, the establishment of a uniform code of commerce for the whole country must be included within its province.

In the second place, the separation of the executive from the legislative must be ended; the executive must be entitled to propose laws necessary for the preservation of the public welfare, and the legislative must be enabled to control the execution of all laws passed. For this purpose the chiefs of the administrative departments must be members of Congress, ready at all times to enlighten it regarding the wants of the great departments of state, and to urge the passage of the laws required to meet these wants. One of them must stand out so conspicuous above his fellows, that upon him will be fixed the ultimate responsibility to the whole country for all the action and inaction of both Congress and the administration. At the same time the tenure of the clerical force required for the administration of public affairs must be made so secure, and so thoroughly regulated, that the public offices can no longer be converted into private patronage. Indeed, while the sense of their responsibility is developing, the public spirit of our legislators will be correspondingly developed, so that they will neither desire nor have cause to desire a continuation of the practice of spoils and booty. They will have something better to do.

In the third place, and as a corollary from the foregoing, the legislature ought in no manner to be allowed to shift its responsibility on the judiciary. The necessary and proper function of the latter is to interpret the will of the former, not to control it. Until the legislature has become the sole and responsible judge of the constitutionally of its acts, true liberty will be without our reach; for uncertainty of the law, of necessity, tends to tyranny. So long as the law-abiding citizen, who has regulated his conduct in conformity with an act of the legislature, is liable at any moment to be declared a law-breaker, and punished for his very obedience by a tribunal which, however eminent, is yet practically and necessarily irresponsible for its judgments, so long laws are not the solemn declaration of the sovereign will that they pretend to be, but partake rather of the nature of snares to entrap the unwary.—From an article on "Work for a Constitutional Convention," by Isaac L. Rice, in the August Century.

Harem Life.

General Loring throws as much light as circumstances permit, in his recent book on Egypt, upon life in the harem. One can naturally see that from the peculiar manner in which marriages are made in Egypt there is little domestic life of the sort we understand.

"They amuse themselves in crunching melon seeds, eating candy, smoking cigarettes and showing their jewelry and fine toilets to their friends. Living a life of ease and indolence, they are never supposed to soil their hands with labor or rack their brains with thought. When they toil their sole occupation is to beautify themselves. When young they are well made; their extremities are fine and their hands are soft, white and supple, and they might be likened to the budding flower which opens at the rays of the morning sun. Their complexions are white and their cheeks tinged with rose; their eyes are sometimes blue, but that is exceptional; they are generally black as jet, and when fully open are of almond form and full of sensibility and delicate sweetness.

"So binding is the law that no man shall see the face of a woman not his property, that, in case of a violation of its sanctity, it looks with favor on the action of the injured husband should he solace his jealousy with the life of the intruder. It is not even permitted to recognize a woman outside of the harem.

"Society among the inmates of the harem means simply smoking cigarettes and pipes and the most trivial amusements. Instead of the sparkling conversation and pleasant music with which the sexes reciprocally entertain each other among Western people, horrible screamings, the monotonous noise of drums and the clang of tambourines are here the solace of woman in her hours of ease. The boasted luxury of the palaces offer in its isolation no attraction to a refined nature."

A London Journal notes the following curious case which is to be scored against the demon of coincidence. In 1865 a man was convicted of an offense at Liverpool, and underwent eighteen months imprisonment. On coming out he took to poetry, preaching and journalism, finally succeeding, as he thought, in living down his old offense. Years afterward, he became, on the recommendation of Pewitt, the editor of a colonial paper in a colony where, of course, the old story was utterly unknown. One day a high wind blew the roof off a building opposite his editorial office. The building had been once a postoffice. Under the roof were a number of old newspapers, "undelivered for want of sufficient address," which were blown into the street. One of his own staff went to rummage these papers in search of "anything interesting." In one of them he found an account of the editor's trial and conviction. The story got about, and has gone far to ruin the editor.

There is a large petrified rock in the shape of a tree stump in front of C. O. Whitcher's residence in Easton, N. H. On one end can plainly be seen where the tree was chopped, while the other end seems to have been broken off. The grain of the wood can be seen, and the color is a yellowish gray. It is about as heavy as iron ore. It measures about two and a half feet in diameter.

CHOLERA

— IS —

COMING!

Read the following extract from the letter of a missionary in China:—

DEAR SIRS.—I ought to have acknowledged long ago the box of Pain-Killer you had the goodness to send me last year. Its coming was most providential. I believe hundreds of lives were saved, under God, by it. We resorted at once to the PAIN-KILLER, using as directed for Cholera. A list was kept of all to whom the Pain-Killer was given, and our native assistants assured us that eight out of every ten to whom it was prescribed, recovered.

Believe me, dear sirs, gratefully and faithfully yours,
